In performance of this agreement (the “Training Agreement”), the Training Organisation undertakes to organise the training program (the “Training”) entitled Part-Time Data Science Bootcamp, taking place for approximately 24 (twenty-four) weeks.

Article 2: Nature and characteristics of the Training

The Training will be held online from 15/02/2025 to 19/07/2025, on evenings and weekends, with 3 hours of live sessions and a minimum of 13 hours of peer to peer learning, recorded content, supported practice & personal study each week.

The Trainee is expected to commit to at least 16 hours of learning and attend a minimum of two live sessions per week, each covering one of the two weekly learning modules of the Training. In addition to mandatory live sessions and optional supported practice sessions, the Trainee is expected to watch all online lectures corresponding to the different learning modules, following the calendar set at the start of the Training. This represents a total of 360+ instructional hours.

The Trainee is expected to attend mandatory sessions of the Training from start to finish, by connecting on the Training Organization's Platform in due time.

A full description of the Training is provided here: <https://www.lewagon.com/data-science-course>

During the Training, the Trainee will learn and practice the following core concepts:

Data Science Foundations:

- Use and master the core concepts of Python for Data Science.
- Learn Data Sourcing using different techniques (CSV, API, Scraping, SQL, etc.).
- Refine your SQL skills with advanced queries (JOIN, PARTITION, RANK, etc.).
- Master the Data Scientist toolbox (Jupyter suite) and perform your first data analysis with Pandas.
- Understand the mathematical concepts making up the foundations of Data Science: statistics, probability and linear algebra.

Decision Science:

- Learn how to structure a Python repository with object-oriented programming in order to clean your code and make it re-usable.
- Learn how to prepare a vast dataset and how to find and interpret meaningful statistical results based on multivariate regression models.
- Discover how to efficiently communicate your findings to a non-technical audience by breaking down technical insights and turn them into business decisions using cost/benefits analysis.

Machine Learning:

- Learn how to explore, clean, and prepare your dataset through preprocessing techniques like vectorization.
- Become familiar with the classic models of supervised learning - linear and logistic regressions.
- Learn how to solve prediction and classification tasks with the Python library scikit-learn using learning algorithms like KNN (k-nearest neighbors).

- Implement training and testing phases to make sure your model can be generalised to unseen data and deployed in production with predictable accuracy.
- Learn how to prevent overfitting using regularization methods and how to choose the right loss function to improve your model's accuracy.
- Evaluate your model's performance by defining what to optimise and the right error metrics in order to assess your business impact.
- Improve your model's performance with validation methods such as cross-validation or hyperparameter tuning.
- Discover a powerful supervised learning method called SVM (Support Vector Machines).
- Move to unsupervised learning and implement methods like PCA for dimensionality reduction or clustering for discovering groups in a data set.
- Complete your toolbelt with an ensemble method that combines other models to improve performance, such as Random Forest or Gradient Boosting.

Deep Learning:

- Use neural networks and transfer your knowledge to create models for image recognition, time series and natural language processing.

Machine Learning Engineering (MLOps):

- Turn your best handcrafted models into a replicable python package that can be trained on big data in the cloud, using virtual machines and online databases.
- Monitor your model performance as new data comes in, retrain it when needed, and expose its predictions to the world via APIs or websites.

Data Science Projects:

- Work on a Data Science project with a technical team.
- Build a data service or data product: a personalised recommendation system, a search engine, an image recognition application, a supply chain optimization tool or an application for promoting and pricing e-commerce.

During and after the Training - Career Services (optional) - The Trainee will be invited to participate in our career services. Live sessions and 1:1 career advisor meetings are available upon completion of mandatory self-paced modules. Please note that such services are supplementary and that the Training Organisation does not undertake any obligation for subsequent employment outcome.

Article 3: Level of prior knowledge required to join the Training

It is recommended for the trainees joining the Training to master programming basics and thus to be comfortable with concepts such as data types and variables, conditions, loops, and functions.

In addition, a minimum level in Mathematics corresponding to A-level or equivalent is recommended to join the Training. The Trainee may be comfortable with concepts such as functions, their derivatives and systems of linear equations.

Finally, an intermediate level of English is required to follow the Training.

The full completion of the required preparatory work by the Trainee prior to the start of the Training is mandatory.

Article 4: Trainers, educational resources and pedagogical approach

The teachers teaching during the Training are professional developers or selected by Le Wagon for their skills. They are assisted by training coaches.
